Scholarships:

Several scholarships are offered to qualified participants in need of financial aid. As a rule it is expected that participants who are on leave from their firms or institutions do not require financial support. The scholarship entails the tuition fee and a monthly stipend for living expenses. There is no extra coverage for travel costs. [1)]

Do you wish to apply for a scholarship?

No ☐ Yes ☐

Reason:

☐ In case that the number of applications is larger than the available number of scholarships I would be willing to participate also with a partial scholarship which covers only the tuition fee (without additional monthly stipend).

[1)] Since competition for scholarships is keen, you should consider applying for scholarships from your home country. The local German embassy may also have information about financial support for foreign students.

Accommodation:

The Kiel Institute offers a number of accommodation facilities in its nearby residence. All rooms are single and provide running hot and cold water. Showers, toilets and kitchen are shared by several rooms. The prices of the rooms range from € 145 – 213 per month.
